

Charis Mullen MP

State Member for Jordan

Media Release

Flagstone State Community College honours former principal

Jordan MP Charis Mullen has officially opened the $7 million Jude Fox Learning Hub at Flagstone State Community College.

Ms Mullen said the hub had been named in honour of foundation principal Jude Fox who tragically passed away late last year.

“I can’t think of a more appropriate title for this wonderful new centre, which is a touching legacy for a leader who gave so much to her school community,” Ms Mullen said.

“Jude had a fierce dedication to education and believed every student has the right to a quality education.

“I was so pleased that the local community wanted to honour Jude and I was honoured to be able to lend my personal support to such a great initiative.”

The centre includes five classrooms, five special education areas, therapy room, life skills area, outdoor learning space, amenities and staff room.

“The project created 18 full-time jobs during construction and was made possible under the Palaszczuk Government’s 2020 Ready program,” Ms Mullen said.

Flagstone State Community College Principal Julie-Ann McCullough said the learning hub was already being put to good use.

“Here at Flagstone we strive to provide a superior learning experience for all students from Year 7 to Year 12,” Ms McCullough said.

“We are thrilled about how these new and innovative spaces will help us deliver cutting-edge educational opportunities, while catering for the differing learning needs of all our students.”

“It’s fitting that we named the building after Mrs Fox, who was dedicated to education and her school community.”

Ms Mullen said the Palaszczuk Government had a proven track-record of providing world class facilities for Queensland schools.

“We’re delivering Education Infrastructure Investment Program valued at more than $923 million during 2018–19,” she said.

“This investment is also helping to drive the Queensland economy by supporting an estimated 2676 full-time jobs through the delivery of important infrastructure projects right across the state.”

Media contact: Jordan Electorate Office- 3447 9300